Ohio State is recognized as one of the largest and most comprehensive institutions of higher education in the United States. Ohio State’s main campus of more than 59,000 students select from 200 undergraduate majors and more than 200 graduate and professional degree programs. Founded as a federal land-grant institution in 1870, the university’s legacy extends to more than 500,000 living alumni.

Global Gateways

The Global Gateways on campus oversee three Gateway offices in three major cities of the world: Shanghai (February 2010), Mumbai (March 2012), and São Paulo (September 2014). As universities across the nation prepare their students to excel in the global marketplace, Ohio State is implementing a strategy that will integrate international dimensions into its teaching, research and engagement mission.

Office of International Affairs

The Office of International Affairs provides leadership in facilitating international experiences for students and faculty, and supports a growing international student and scholar population at Ohio State. The office is the umbrella organization for a myriad of Ohio State’s international activities including, Education Abroad, International Student and Scholar services, Global Gateways, Global One Health, Area Studies Centers, international education outreach and the development of international agreements and partnerships.

China Gateway

The China Gateway was Ohio State’s first Gateway office and provides the university with a base of operations and a point of contact to strengthen connections among Ohio State students, faculty, alumni and friends of the university in Ohio and Greater China.
