Hong Qian, the Shanghai-based biographer of pioneering author, actor, and producer of modern drama, Shen Hung (1894-1955), will give an informal presentation about her research on the career of her father and issues related to his American period, 1916-1922. Hung was a Boxer Indemnity student at OSU in Ceramic Engineering from 1916 to 1919 who abandoned science after May 4th to pursue a career as a dramatist. Several of his first plays, which were written in English, were performed at OSU.

Wednesday, June 13, 2012
1:30 Mendenhall Lab 129
(125 South Oval Mall)

Please Note
Lecture will only be in Chinese language

For more information, please contact:
Jeffrey Chan | chan.184@osu.edu | 614-247-6893
This event is sponsored in part by a U.S. Department of Education Title VI Grant